It is intended that Chemical Society Reviews will have the broad appeal necessary for researchers to benefit from an awareness of advances in areas outside their own specialities. Deliberate efforts will be made to solicit authors and articles from Europe and further afield, in order to present a truly international outlook on the major advances in a wide range of chemical areas. It is hoped that it will be of interest and help to students planning a career in research. In particular, it will be the place to find succinct and authoritative overviews of timely topics in modern chemistry.

In line with the above, review articles will not be comprehensive, too detailed, or heavily referenced; they should act as a springboard to further reading. Interdisciplinary awareness should thereby be heightened and the student should be stimulated to take a more professional interest in the topic of the review.

Although the majority of articles are intended to be specially commissioned, the Society is always prepared to consider offers of articles for publication. In such cases a short synopsis, rather than the completed article, should be submitted to the Senior Editor (Reviews), Books and Reviews Department, The Royal Society of Chemistry, Thomas Graham House, Science Park, Milton Road, Cambridge CB4 4WF.
